Technology

Our State-of-the-art plant is located at the heart of the premium Basmati Paddy cultivation region of Punjab & Haryana in India. Buhler Japan a world class leader in grain processing systems set up the plant equipped with ultra modern machinery like Pre cleaner, De-stoner, Precision-sizers, paddy separators De huskers, Polisher, Graders, color sortex etc. Our rice grading plant is backed by on of the most advanced technology in grading system by Cater-Day, USA. Pre cleaners magnets from Smith-seeger German technologies are used toward off foreign material, The rice is protected in its journey from the field to the plate.

The Global Agro Corporation Pvt. Ltd. (GACPL) milling plant is made up entirely of stainless steel and ensures no corrosion, fire resistance and heat resistance along with ease of fabrication and impact resistance.

All of these translate to secured hygienic products and food graded material. We are on of the few rice plants in country that incorporate state of the art metal detection facility throughout the milling process. It ensures removal of both ferrous & metal which means completely metal free product.

We, at our plant, ensure that each grain is perfect and each process is carried out under supervision of our competent and trained manpower.

Committed to quality

Our quality control department ensure the best quality of paddy and rice through systematic examination, so that the end product is qualitative.

Most of impurities, irrespective of their sizes and nature are completely removed in different stages of the passage of paddy through automated machineries.

Our quality assurance system makes sure that the end product destined to enter market distribution is of perfect quality and hygiene.

Our dedicated team of professionals obtains all the products from reliable sources making sure that they are delivered to the clients with committed time frame with excellent quantity.

All operations are constantly monitored to ensure that we retain and excel further in building up our reputation as globally known rive million company.
